OUR CURRENT STRATEGY IS MARKET SEGMENTATION needs confirmation that the product is popular and backed up by claims of her peers. In the eyes of the prospect, all options look the same. There is little differentiation and we need to always check for it.

The “Price-conscious” buyer is a bargain hunter looking for the lowest possible price, willing to try other brands even unknown. Due to sliced of budget, discounts request are more rampant.

is a thorough, meticulous researcher who wants to understand every intricate factor, before committing to any single one. They are more informed than ever. They know who uses the product, most of the time even the pricing. They have visited social networks and read consumer comments or peer reviews. If they are in the same institutes that complains are high, it is more likely to not get their “Yes”.
